

Regional Operations Manager (m/f) CEE

FlixBus is an innovative provider of mobility services with headquarters in Berlin, Munich, Milan and Paris. With more than 10,000 connections, our green buses offer a modern, comfortable, and environmentally friendly way of traveling at the best prices. This makes us the clear market leader in Germany and one of the fastest growing mobility start-ups in Europe. We are extending our network on our way to become the European market leader.

We want to internationalize our successful German business to Central Eastern Europe and, therefore, we are looking for a Regional Operations Manager (m/f) based in Budapest and a Regional Operations Manager (m/f) based in Zagreb.

Your tasks:

- You support our bus partner companies and train their drivers
- You collaborate closely with our partners and develop long lasting relationships
- You ensure and optimize the quality of our operations
- You coordinate and optimize processes at our bus stations

Your profile:

- Excellent Bachelor's/Master's degree in the field of leisure and tourism, transportation, economics or a related field of study
- Previous experience in logistics, the transportation or the tourism industry
- Strong social, communication and negotiation skills
- You are fluent in the language of the respective market and in English
- You are enthusiastic, ready for action and you have the necessary entrepreneurial drive to develop our venture with us

Our offer:

- The possibility to work flexibly, goal orientated, and independently in an experienced and professional team
- A once in a lifetime chance to participate in the development of the next "big thing" in a totally new and innovative market
- The chance to develop and implement your own ideas

Interested? If so, please answer the following questions within your application:

1. Which measures would you take regarding our partner management to ensure the quality of our services and why would you choose them?
2. How would you build a sustainable relationship with our bus partners in order to increase the quality of our customer services in the short, medium and long term?

If you would like to help build the long distance bus market leader and assist in its internationalization into the European market, then we are looking forward to receiving your application. Please send your CV, cover letter, and certificates to:
